

Jean-Jacques Subrenat

Jean-Jacques Subrenat is a former Ambassador and is currently a member of the NetMundial Initiative Coordination Council.

Subrenat is a former member of the ICANN Board, appointed by the NomCom, 2007-10. During his service on the Board, he was (successively or simultaneously) active in several Committees: President's Strategy Committee (where he was one of the authors of the "Implementation Plan for Improving Institutional Confidence"); Board Governance Committee; Structural Improvements Committee; Public Participation Committee (which he set up and chaired). He initiated the creation of the Global Relationships Committee, of which he was an inaugural member.

Mr. Subrenat also took an active part in reviews: ALAC Review, Board Review, ccNSO Review (as its Chair).

Member of ALAC (2010-2014), Subrenat proposed that this Advisory Committee, while continuing its valuable work on ongoing business, take a longer-term and broader view of the Internet's and ICANN's future. His proposal was accepted, and the ALAC set up its Future Challenges Working Group (FCWG), of which he is the current Co-Chair. The FCWG produced the ALAC White Paper "Making ICANN Relevant, Responsive and Respected" (R3)], in the 6 UN working languages.

In the French foreign ministry, Mr. Subrenat was a Diplomatic adviser to the Minister for European affairs, deputy director for South-East Asian affairs, alternate director for the Americas. He was in the team which set up the French Agency for solar and renewable energies.

Permanent representative and ambassador to the WEU (Brussels), ambassador to Estonia, ambassador to Finland, acting governor in the Board of governors of ASEF, other activities include: Tutor at the French International institute for public administration (IIAP, Paris), later at the National school for public administration (ENA, Strasbourg); Chair of the advisory board, Institut Pierre Werner (Luxembourg); Senior advisor to the Board, Neumunster cultural centre (CCRN, Luxembourg) and, in that capacity, member of the Board, European Union national institutes of culture (EUNIC); member of the interim leadership team, Individual Users'Association (<http://individualusers.org>).
